

Principal Components plot showing K-means clusters

These two components explain 97.48 % of the point variability.